SCHOOL REPORTS

REPORT OF THE SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS

To the School Board of the Town of Deering:

Herewith is respectfully submitted the annual report of the Superintendent of Schools.

During the school year ending in June, 1921, there were three schools in session the full time, thirty-six weeks, namely, the East, West and North Schools. The Pond School was in session during the Fall and Winter terms, closing because of the resignation of the teacher. The children were provided with schooling elsewhere for the remainder of the year.

Until the first of April, seven children from the Center District were offered transportation to the Hillsboro Special District. Transportation was difficult to obtain and expensive, and as there seemed to be a desire to open a school at the Center, this was done, but when the school was opened, instead of the seven children, only two attended that school. Two moved away, and the others preferred to pay their own tuition and attend the Special District School. Because of this small attendance, it was not thought advisable to open this school in the Fall.

During the year 1919-20 the North Deering School was open, and the East Deering children attended that school. During the next year there were more children in the East than in the North District, so the East School after having been closed for some time, was reopened, North Deering having five children and East Deering having nine. At the close of that year, in June, 1921, Miss Eunice Gadda resigned as teacher of the North School in order to attend Normal School. No teacher could be found for that school, and it was decided to transport those children to the East School, as, two years before, the children from East Deering had been carried to the North School.

Of course transportation, especially in the winter time, is attended by many unpleasant features, but it seemed best to do as has been done, and have the advantages of one school of fifteen children rather than have three schools with 4, 4, and 7 pupils respectively.

Expenses for schools always seem to be larger than necessary to some tax payers. During the past year the total expense for educating all the children of Deering has been $11.58 per $1,000 of the equalized valuation. There were 53 school districts in the State spending more than this. One district spent $21.39 per $1,000 of equalized valuation. Of course a district of low valuation spends more in proportion than a district of high valuation, but it is far more likely to receive State Aid. We had two unusual expenses this year which made our expenses higher than they are likely to be again. All the books at the Pond School were destroyed by order of the Board of Health because of fear of contagion, and it was necessary to replace all these books and material at an expense greater than the original cost because of the change of price; and this expense came all at one time, whereas the original expense had covered as much as ten years. The second unusual expense was due to the complete remodeling of the West Deering School building. Following an inspection of our schools by Commissioner Butterfield, he recommended that the West Deering School be selected as the one to be remodeled at this time. To be certain that the work should be done along approved lines, the Deputy Commissioner, having such work especially in charge, was invited to visit the school and make recommendations. The school was remodeled along lines recommended by him, and is now a decided credit to the town. One improvement generally leads to another, and the teacher found it very easy to raise money for an organ, which is now installed in that school. The enthusiasm of the teacher and co-operation of the people is surely gratifying.

The names of the teachers of the different schools may be found in the statistical report which accompanies this report.

Due to the repeated and urgent request of some of the parents in the Mansonville District, that school was opened in September, 1921, with seventeen children enrolled, being the largest school in town. The Women's Relief Corps presented this school a beautiful American flag.

The chief aim of education is to fit the child for the life he is to lead, and in a country like ours, intended to be governed by the people, education is an absolute necessity. With these facts in mind, a plan for a "School Town" was outlined by the Superintendent, and is being carried out with good results in several schools in this union, the aptitude of the teacher and the age of the children causing the results to vary in the different schools. Parliamentary procedure, thrift, good health rules, and town government are some of the things about which they are learning, by putting them into actual practice.

Four children, and those from only two families, are represented on our Roll of Honor this year; but it is an honor to be neither absent or tardy for a whole year. We are very anxious to enlist the interest of the parents in getting the children to school regularly and on time. By examining the statistical report it will be seen that one school had an average of 24 cases of tardiness for each pupil, and when it is realized that three cases are considered too many as an average for each pupil, and that three of our schools exceeded that limit, it is evident that all concerned should co-operate to teach that promptness and reliability are needed virtues. The teachers are making special effort to reduce the number of tardy marks, and if we all work together, this can easily be done.

The earnest work of the teachers and the constant attention of the school board to the business of the schools and their regular attendance at the board meetings has been greatly appreciated.

Respectfully submitted,
A. A. HOLDEN,
Superintendent of Schools.
